Philippines Hit In New American Raids, Japs Say

Adm. Nimitz Reports Nip Warships Fled after Sighting U. S. Fleet

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 17 (AP)—Sustained action by carrier-based planes against the Philippines and a new landing in the western Carolines were reported tonight in a communique of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

The carrier plane attacks extended operations which have been in progress against Japan's inner defense ring since October 8, and are meshed with land-based strikes by Gen. Douglas MacArthur who reported a fighter sweep over Mindanao.

The last landing, made last September, but kept secret until today, was achieved without opposition on Ulithi atoll in the Western Caroline group. Eighty-first division army troops, of the same group which aided in the invasion of the Southern Philippines, went ashore on Ulithi September 20 and 21.

Landings kept secret. Ulithi is 100 miles east of Yap and is northeast of Palau. It has one of the best harbors in the Western Pacific.

The landings were kept secret because the Japanese possibly were unaware of them until recently.

Advance patrols landed on Passar and Mangwang islands in the Ulithi group on both sides of the main entrance to Ulithi lagoon September 20.

The next day troops occupied the four islets of Mogmog, Potangera, Asor and Sorlan.

Ulithi also is known as the MacKenzie islands. They roughly are half way between American-occupied Southern Palau and Guam.

Ulithi was used by the Japanese as a minor naval base and for sea-plane operations earlier in the war. Lack of opposition was somewhat surprising in view of the Japanese fanatical defense elsewhere.

The communique reference of action against the Philippines was limited to a single sentence. The paucity of reports was believed due to the necessity for long periods of radio silence while the fleet is in action.

Tokyo radio specified airfields around Manila as among the latest targets.

Other Raids Reported. The main island in Ulithi atoll is nineteen miles long, ten miles wide. In the surrounding reef are thirty other islets. Mogmog has the main port. Smaller ports are at Asor, Passar and Lousau islets.

Ulithi is in the Tychon belt. Its climate is hot.

Tonight's communique reported a bombing raid on Okudura Town at Haha Juna in the Bonin Islands, 650 miles south of the Philippines.

Japanese troops patrolled the streets of Athens after breaking up clashes between rival Greek factions and order was restored in the newly-liberated capital.

The troops were landed from a huge fleet of 150 Allied warships yesterday morning. Not a shot was fired as the Tommies steamed ashore amid the cheers of the population which suffered greatly during the more than three years of German occupation. Allied headquarters disclosed.

During the last week of German occupation more than 500 civilians were reported machine-gunned by the Germans and scores of buildings burned.

Gen. Kleemann, commander of the German garrison at Rhodes, was reported to have committed suicide after he was ordered to hold the island and not evacuate the garrison to the mainland. There was no confirmation of the report.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Bonita Mae Hart

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Bonita Mae Hart, also known as Mrs. Dorothy Phillips, of Texas, was indicted today in federal court on a charge of unlawfully collecting family allowance under the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance act of 1942.

Assistant United States Attorney Thomas J. Kenney said the woman was married to two soldiers and was unlawfully receiving dependency allotments from the second husband.

The woman, now living near Cumberland where she is accused of illegally receiving a $50 allotment check last Sept. 13, was married to Hart in April, 1943 and then married Keith Walter Phillips of Eyndman, Pa., Aug. 7, 1944 in Oklahoma, the prosecutor said.

John W. Bricker Labels New Deal As "Reactionary"

Ohio Governor Declares GOP Proposes To End "Economic Slavery"

By E. E. EASTERLY

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 17 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker declared tonight that the leaders who represent "the so-called liberalism of the New Deal" were in reality "the arch reactionaries of this century."

The Republican candidate for vice president defined liberalism as faith in the future of America and a belief that "men can govern themselves."

The New Deal, he added in a prepared text released by his campaign staff before a nationwide radio broadcast "is not a people's government. The power it now exercises has already proved shackles for the liberties of people. That is why the New Deal is reactionary—not liberal."

The Ohio governor said that while the national administration promised in 1933 to "hold high the banner of liberalism," instead "it has set this nation on the road toward reaction."

"It has reached back for centuries and taken into its hand old world devices for subverting people to governmental regulation. For twelve long years we have had no government by the consent of the governed, but government by orders of the bureaucrats!"

"Process" Is Described. Describing how, he said, "this process of reaction has been ruthlessly promoted by the New Deal prophets and agents," Bricker continued:

"There is Henry Wallace, who proclaimed: 'We are in for a profound revolution'; but who also consoled us by saying: 'We are not going to use the whole Russian political and economic system here in the United States.'"

"There is Francis Biddle, who defiantly shouted: 'No business in this country is immune from seizure.' And there is Franklin Roosevelt himself, who once told Congress to pass a certain law regardless of its constitutionality, as to its constitutionality."

These men, the vice presidential nominee asserted, "represent the so-called liberalism of the New Deal. But we are not deceived."

"They," he continued, "are the arch reactionaries of this century. They would make over our American society into a regimented and manipulated economy. They are seeking to convert our American system into an old world system which makes the government the master of men."

Bricker pictured government under the New Deal as a "grotesque monstrosity" in which, he said, "independent bureaucrats were the legions." (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Greek Civilians Used as Hostages

ROME, Oct. 17 (AP)—Greek women and children are being used as hostages by German troops fleeing northward in an effort to prevent guerrillas from attacking their columns, authenticated reports said today.

The Nazis warned the Greeks that ten hostages would be killed in retaliation for each attack, and reports said the first group of civilians taken already had been slain.

German troops fleeing from Volos toward Larissa took fifty women and children, but their fate is not known. British troops patrolled the streets of Athens after breaking up clashes between rival Greek factions and order was restored in the newly-liberated capital.

The troops were landed from a huge fleet of 150 Allied warships yesterday morning. Not a shot was fired as the Tommies steamed ashore amid the cheers of the population which suffered greatly during the more than three years of German occupation. Allied headquarters disclosed.

Willkie's Body Interred in His Native Indiana

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Oct. 17 (AP)—The body of Wendell L. Willkie rests tonight beneath the soil of his Hoosier homeland.

The remains of the Indiana lawyer who became a world figure were carried to a grave this afternoon by eight men who had tilled his Rush county farm lands.

As a final tribute Dr. George Arthur Frantz, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Indianapolis, said:

"It is no minor miracle that a man from our inland tranquility should, in the purpose of God, bear the cry of all races of men for justice and peace. He heard the cry and answered."

"This man taught us to think, not only continentally, but universally. He educated America in foreign affairs. There were no points in the compass in his love for democracy or in his confidence in the people. He believed in God and in man made in the image of God. From this belief flowed his optimism—an undiminished and refreshing stream. And the common people hearing him found hope springing up again in their hearts."

The funeral address by Dr. Frantz and a prayer by the Rev. C. V. Reeder, pastor of the Rushville Presbyterian church, comprised the services.

The widow, Mrs. Edith Willkie, had requested a brief and simple ceremony. She arrived here only today, accompanied by her son, Lt. Philip Willkie. They came from New York, where Willkie died Oct. 8.

Funeral services were held a week ago today in New York and the body was brought here but burial was deferred until the arrival home of the son, who had been on convoy duty on the Atlantic.

Only 250 persons who held tickets were admitted to the mortuary where the service was held, but State Police Lt. Leo Moore estimated that 1,500 others gathered out to hear the service by loud speaker.

The great bronze casket was not opened. Among the floral tributes were those from Willkie's New York law firm, Gov. and Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and President and Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek of China.

Patrols were active on other Burma fronts, the daily communique said.

Headquarters Report Some Burma Progress

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 17 (AP)—Allied ground troops aided by warplanes of the Eastern Air Command have made "some progress" against Japanese positions around Tiddim, Allied headquarters said today.

Patrols were active on other Burma fronts, the daily communique said.

Water obstacle. This advance, along the Rimini-Bologna highway, put the New Zealanders less than two miles from the fairly large town of Cesena.

In the hills to the southwest British infantry and armor consolidated recent gains and captured Mount Romano, a high feature three miles south of Cesena, and held it against a number of German counterattacks.

Marshall Kesselring's move might indicate that he is planning to shorten his line from Bologna to the Adriatic by slowly swinging back his twelve divisions facing the Eighth army to an approximate east-west line from Bologna, but so far there is no indication of such a maneuver in the Adriatic coastal sector.

Whatever his intentions, he is winning something precious to both sides—time. Already the Eighth army is finding the rivers, which were dry in September, running strongly. There has been some enemy flooding just south of Cesena, and more country suitable for man-made floods lies to the north, particularly the low stretches between the Po and the Adige rivers, approximately ten miles to the north.

F.D.R. Will Speak In Philadelphia On October 27

Former Governor Edison Believes Dewey Will Carry New Jersey

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—A Philadelphia ball park speech by President Roosevelt on Oct. 27 was announced today as indications accumulated that he intended to step up the tempo of his campaign from now until election day.

David L. Lawrence, Pennsylvania Democratic national committeeman, said after a White House call that Mr. Roosevelt had agreed to the Philadelphia speech.

His announcement came amid reports that Mr. Roosevelt is considering speeches also in Illinois, Ohio and New York, and coincided with these other White House political developments.

Former Democratic Governor Charles Edison of New Jersey conferred with the president and told reporters afterward that he had called at Mr. Roosevelt's request and given him a political report. Edison said he gave it as his judgment that New Jersey will go for Governor Thomas E. Dewey by a substantial majority. Edison, who has long been at odds with Frank Hague, Jersey City, Democratic leader, also said he thought the Hague organization was hurting the Democratic chances because "the independent vote is against Hague."

The White House fired a second reply to a Dewey campaign speech. Like the one issued Saturday, Edison's took the form of a compilation of Dewey's quotes from administration documents or speeches followed in each instance by larger excerpts from the same source with obvious design to develop the contention that Dewey's use of the quotations was misleading.

Pennsylvania is the second largest prize in the electoral college with thirty-five votes. President Roosevelt's Oct. 27 speech is to be in Shibe park, home of the Philadelphia baseball club. Lawrence said the park will hold 35,000 to 40,000.

In New York, Democratic headquarters said the address would be broadcast from 9 to 10 p. m.

The broadcast, over CBS and Mutual networks will be sponsored jointly by the Philadelphia Democratic committee and the Businessmen for Roosevelt, Inc. A group of members of the latter organization, including Andrew J. Higgins, New Orleans war constructor, accompanied Lawrence to the White House.

Lawrence said it appeared the Philadelphia speech would be Mr. Roosevelt's only campaign speech in Pennsylvania this year. He predicted the president would carry the state by a larger vote than he did in 1940 when his margin of victory was 280,000.

Dewey is to speak in Pittsburgh next Friday.

Besides the Philadelphia address, Mr. Roosevelt's only other definitely announced speech is one to The Foreign Policy Association in New York this Saturday.

Florida Is Alerted For Oncoming Storm

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 17 (AP)—Strong gales, the forerunners of an advance hurricane, were reported tonight in western Cuba tonight and the United States Weather Bureau put all of southern Florida on the alert in the face of the oncoming severe storm.

The 1,400-ton U.S.S. Ortolan, a tug converted into a minesweeper, submarine rescue and repair ship, was sent to the Gulf of Mexico to assist in the search for the missing ship.

The story was told by Lt. Thomas R. Walsh, Jr., of Baltimore, executive officer of the Ortolan. He has been with her through all of her experiences.

We got the three Nip planes on April 7, 1943," he related, "the day of the biggest enemy air raid on Guadalcanal. They threw more than 100 planes at our ships in Lengo channel and shore installations along the beach during that hectic midday."

That was the day the navy lost the U. S. S. Aaron Ward and took a pounding all around.

12 Nip Planes Spotted. "We received an air alert at 12:58," Lt. Walsh continued. "Three minutes later twelve planes were spotted moving in from the west at 13,000 feet. Suddenly four of the Nips peeled off and dove."

"The Aaron Ward was straddled by bombs from the leading plane and badly damaged. Though we took her in tow after the skirmish she had to be abandoned before we could reach shore."

"As the second plane dove, we opened up with two three-inch and two 50-caliber machine guns. Suddenly there was a burst beneath the ship and she disintegrated."

"The third Nip plane seemed to ignore us. He was diving at a heavily loaded LST. But as he entered the field of fire from our 20-millimeter guns on the port bow he began trailing smoke, nosed over and crashed."

Salvage Work Commenced. "The last plane approached our starboard side. Things looked bad for a moment. Then the curtain of fire from our guns hit him all at once. He swerved and fell in a great ball of flame."

In addition to shooting down the three Jap planes, the Ortolan was credited with recovering the first Jap planes of the Zero float type to be salvaged intact. This happened at Tulagi.

Officers and men of the Ortolan are nearly all experienced divers. Admiral Halsey's commendation of ship and crew "for courage and devotion to duty" came after the Ortolan had recovered a ship from the beach at Guadalcanal after it had been "officially stricken from the list of navy ships possible to salvage."

The commendation from Admiral Furlong was "for outstanding work and accomplishments in salvage and repair work to ships damaged in the Pearl Harbor attack."

Sufficient Jobs Bring Security, Baruch Declares

War Mobilization Adviser Says "Peace Can Be What U. S. Makes It"

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Declaring that "peace can be just about what America makes it," Bernard M. Baruch said tonight that world security could be attained "if we provide jobs for all."

Baruch, special adviser to the director of war mobilization told the New York Herald Forum on current problems in a prepared talk.

"The objective of a world community is not so academic as it seems. In fact, supplying everyone who needs it and who is willing to work, even including the Hottentots, with a quart of milk a day might prove an economic as well as social advantage. It might even be profitable."

Among others who spoke at the night session were War Production Board Chairman A. K. Krug, Ferdinand Eberstadt, former vice chairman of the WPB, and James B. Carey, secretary of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Krug said in a prepared speech that "the problems of finding peace and employment can only be solved by business, by labor and by the government working together."

Krug added that no "sound reconstruction plan can be keyed to any definite date or set of circumstances" but must be "sufficiently fluid to meet new conditions as they develop."

Eberstadt said in a prepared talk: "If our industry is to play its great potential role in the postwar world, we need a clear national foreign economic policy, bi-partisan if possible—and a dynamic governmental organization to implement and foster it."

"It should as soon as possible hold a United Nations' economic conference to agree on new and sounder world trade policies and to create a strong permanent international organization at the highest level to guide and implement them."

Carey told the forum in a prepared speech that "we must reject our brains to make use of new techniques like x x x full production and full employment."

Self Insurance By State Urged By Rubenstein

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP)—Self insurance by the state would save taxpayers $68,000 a year in fire insurance premiums, or more than that could be saved by adoption of a plan to get lower fire insurance rates on state property, Delegate Leon A. Rubenstein (D-Baltimore fourth) declared today.

The delegate referred to State Treasurer Hopper S. Miles' proposed plan for lower fire insurance premiums by getting insurance companies to reduce rates in view of Maryland's better than average record of fire losses in recent years.

Rubenstein's plan called for the legislature to set up a state fire insurance fund by appropriation, with various state agencies paying their premiums into the fund and any fire losses being paid from it.

The state has been paying an average of $83,000 annually for fire insurance while its losses have averaged $15,000 a year, the delegate to the general assembly said.

Converted Tug Wins Commendations After Destroying Three Jap Planes

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17 (AP)—It's expected when a battleship knocks down a heavy Jap plane, it's something out of the ordinary when a converted tugboat shoots three Mitsubishi 98 out of the sky in a few minutes.

The 1,400-ton U.S.S. Ortolan, a tug converted into a minesweeper, submarine rescue and repair ship, was sent to the Gulf of Mexico to assist in the search for the missing ship.

HORTHY ASKS TRUCE

THE HUNGARIAN GOVERNMENT

Adm. Nicholas Horthy has asked the Allies for a truce. It is reported that while the Russian armies drove across Hungary's central plains toward Budapest, the Germans and pro-German elements seized the capital. Horthy was seized by the Gestapo and taken to Germany.

Among others who spoke at the night session were War Production Board Chairman A. K. Krug, Ferdinand Eberstadt, former vice chairman of the WPB, and James B. Carey, secretary of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Krug said in a prepared speech that "the problems of finding peace and employment can only be solved by business, by labor and by the government working together."

The Berlin and Budapest radio poured out clouds of official explanations, appeals, boasts and accusations tending to obscure the situation, but it appeared a Hungarian army revolt was under way.

Commanders Ousted. DNB announced that the commanders of the First and Second Hungarian Armies had been ousted and that Maj. Gen. Bela Miklos von Dalnok, commander of the First army, had deserted to the Red army along with his staff.

Specific mention of his name was believed in London to be at least implied confirmation of neutral reports that the First Hungarian Army was marching on Budapest with the intention of ousting pro-Nazi Premier Ferenc Szalasi and the German military who hold the capital.

In the welter of proclamations, a broadcast order of the day from Budapest called on all deserters to return to their posts by noon, Oct. 20—further supporting reports of anti-Nazi decisions within the Hungarian army since Regent Nicholas Horthy asked for an armistice on Sunday and was subsequently "retired" and disavowed by the Szalasi "Arrow Cross" Hungarian Nazi party.

Dr. Paul Schmidt, German foreign office spokesman, seeking to put the best face on the Hungarian situation, declared the Germans had known all about Hungarian efforts to get out of the war and had been all set to act quickly, so that they had the situation well in hand at present. Other reports disagreed.

Soldiers Deserting. The Brussels radio said large numbers of Hungarian soldiers were deserting and that armed clashes between the Germans and Hungarians had occurred in various places.

That some of the highest officers were refusing to take orders from the Szalasi government, was clear. Moscow maintained the silence it imposed last Thursday on Hungarian operations, but the Cairo radio reported great Soviet tank forces were massing on the Hungarian plain ready to stake at Budapest momentarily. Some word from Moscow was awaited to clarify the picture of affairs inside Hungary.

For several days past the Germans have reported spirited Soviet attacks also from the south, in the region north of Warsaw. They said the Russians had won bridgeheads across the Narew river at Serok, fourteen miles north of Warsaw, and in the vicinity of Rozan, forty-four miles north of the Polish capital. Berlin said most of the present pressure was around Rozan.

Major Campaign Seen. This drive, under the one of the Soviet Union's youngest and most brilliant generals, might develop into the major campaign against East Prussia. The principal difficulty apparently was the crossing of the many little streams that flow through that low region.

Two other strong offensives also were beating against the outer defenses of the German stronghold, however. The only one Moscow has announced was on the northern border along the Niemen river line. It already had approached within artillery range of the East Prussian border stronghold of Tilsit.

Americans Surprise Jap Philippine Motor Convoy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Wednesday, Oct. 18 (AP)—American fliers over Northern Mindanao, in the Philippines, surprised a Japanese motor convoy and destroyed it with bombs, today's communique reported.

This blow at enemy supply lines was timed with the upsurge of carrier plane blows against the Philippines.

Sweeping at low level over the highway, the American planes wiped out sixty-two trucks and six staff cars.

They also inflicted casualties on a mounted cavalry troop that was nearby.

More than 200 medium and light bombers, in action against by-passed enemy bases, dropped explosives on Japanese bivouacs on Rabaul, New Britain, and Kavieng, New Ireland. The planes dropped 102 tons of bombs. The

Japanese Fleet Again Refuses To Enter Battle

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The net conclusion to be drawn from otherwise irreconcilable American and Japanese accounts of the battle of Formosa is that it ended with the elusive Nipponese home fleet in flight, again refusing action, and the powerful American sea-air armada streaming toward other targets, its immediate mission accomplished.

Fleet Completes Task
There was no direct statement to that effect in Admiral Nimitz' laconic announcement giving the lie to enemy claims of a smashing victory. It seemed clear, however, that the breaking of radio silence to disclose the enemy's refusal of surface battle meant that the Third fleet had completed its task against Formosa and the Ryukyus and was moving on to its next assignment. And in the whole period of its bold sweep in the East China sea area, Nimitz added, the fleet suffered no damage of "consequence" to plane carriers or battleships, only two "medium" surface craft forced out of action by aerial torpedo hits.

That seems to dispose completely of Tokyo claims of half a hundred or more American naval craft, big and little, sunk or crippled. It certainly dismisses the Japanese assertion that the Nipponese home fleet and intervened. Again discretion proved the better part of Japanese valor at sea. It tends also to confirm the conclusion that the bulk of enemy naval fighting power in the China sea is based southward where oil fuel is readily available and where Tokyo certainly anticipates early Allied activity in the Bay of Bengal theater.

Formosa Hit Hard
American forces have struck hard at Formosa. That boasted Japanese "unsinkable" plane carrier has proved a dismal failure as a sure protective bastion for the Japanese-occupied Philippines, for the central coastal area of China and for Japan itself.

The big and mountainous island is still there, a formidable place to take by invasion; but its usefulness as an air concentration point and staging base is now highly doubtful. Caught under the co-ordinated blasting of carrier planes and the giant super-fortresses from China, the score or more enemy air centers in Formosa have been badly crippled.

The inner arch of Japanese insular defense islands, of which Formosa is the capstone, thus proved no more impenetrable than the outer barriers in the Pacific through which American power has already crashed.

Important changes in Central Pacific plans might flow out of what has been learned of enemy weaknesses in the vital East China sea sector. Matched against the weight of American sea and air power now available to throw against it, Japanese air and sea deployment there has been tested and found wanting in effectiveness.

Boy, 11, Travels 150 Miles to Army Camp To See His "Pop"

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND. Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—An 11-year-old lad who became "awful lonesome" for his soldier dad, stationed here, decided to do something about it.

Richard Gemberling decided that if dad couldn't come home to Bethlehem, Pa., he would just have to travel the 150 miles to Aberdeen himself. He arrived about 11 p. m. on a Saturday night, tired but grinning, and asked the MP's how to find "Pop." Pvt. Henry Gemberling.

"Pop" was found, and Richard was fed and bedded down for the night in a GI bunk. Next day he was taken on a tour of the proving ground. Conclusive proof of the effectiveness of his self-prescribed cure for homesickness was his remark as he was placed on a train for home Sunday night.

"Gosh, wait till the guys back in school hear that I ate in a real army mess hall," he shouted as the train pulled out.

Dewey Emphasizes Two Vital Points

BESIDES factually refuting the White House denial that the administration had considered and planned a retarded demobilization of servicemen in favor of reconstruction, Governor Dewey stressed two more persuasive points in his ringing speech at St. Louis.

The governor successfully assailed the argument that Roosevelt's management of American interests in the foreign field has been so superb that he must be continued in office. The definite link between the disordered, haphazard, uncoordinated agencies at home with the tasks arising abroad was shown by the equally chaotic and confusing extension of these multiplied agencies abroad. The connection and interdependence is of such magnitude as to give no assurance that foreign management, particularly in the peace settlements, can be any clearer or more competent than the management at home. This rather knocked the props from under what is possibly the strongest argument of the fourth-termers here.

Also, in refuting the White House squirming on the demobilization charge, Governor Dewey gave emphasis to the pattern of regimentation and centralized control looking to collectivism long pursued by the New Deal. Preventing the servicemen from returning home as quickly as possible after victory is won would enable the New Deal, if retained in power, to meddle again with business and industry, to wield and enlarge its control over them, to further its collectivist ambitions. The trend was unmistakably indicated in the report by the National Resources Planning Board, the reminders of which by Governor Dewey are quite timely at this stage of the campaign.

The confident, assured tone of Dewey's St. Louis address gave the impression that he was not only backing his charges with undeniable documentary facts, but that there is a wealth of like substantiating evidence behind him. Indeed, he can produce a mass of documents, including records if he finds it necessary. The demonstration of his familiarity with the record not only has emphasized his ready knowledge of public affairs and his capacity for handling them, but also has produced a new fresh chill of dismay up and down the spines of the New Dealers as to the advisability of trying again to squirm around the records.

Experience Helps The Teen-agers

IT WAS FEARED, and with some justification, that boys and girls who obtained jobs in factories, offices and stores would be reluctant to return to school. It was expected that the salaries offered would prove a lure that youth could not resist. Thus an energetic campaign was launched to prove to youths who had found employment that their place was in the schoolroom. The campaign has apparently met with some success.

There is evidence now to show that summer employment and part-time jobs actually tend to send boys and girls back to school. A report issued by the Charity Aid Society of New York City concludes that summer or part-time jobs had a strong influence on "teen-age boys and girls, and suggests that there is no better way to decide whether to quit school completely.

It cites the case of a high school girl who had planned to quit school. She obtained a part-time job in an office and discovered how much she had to know to do her work intelligently. She returned to school showing more interest than before. It mentions a young man who thought his teachers and all teachers much too severe. He, too, planned to quit school. He obtained a part-time job with an exacting and uncompromising employer, and that had also returned to school with a normal interest in study.

The report, which was compiled by the society's department of counseling and employment, says that where part-time jobs do not seriously interfere with school work and where they hold a particular interest for the "teen-age boy or girl, they have been found to have a distinct educational value.

It is perhaps natural for schoolboys and schoolgirls to assure that the training they are undergoing is too difficult, that grownups who have jobs and money to spend are having a far more agreeable time. A little experience in the workaday world is often sufficient to explode the illusion that the school is the sole place where the rest of the world is free.

A Nation Gone Utterly Mad

WHAT IS going on in those parts of Europe still in German hands is almost incredible. The slaughter of innocent people and the wanton destruction of property are almost baffling if one seeks for reasons. There are no logical reasons—only the explanation of a nation gone utterly mad.

The twinges of national insanity were upon Germany in 1933 when it permitted Adolf Hitler to become the ruler of the land. The body of Germany was disordered, so was the mind. The early persecutions, the purges, the terrorism, all indicated what was yet to come. The fanaticism of Germany has carried it not only to the brink of national disaster, but now threatens the health of much of Europe. The planned and systematic starving of Europe's children, in the mad effort to perpetuate German power, is one of the most heinous examples. Now comes another example. For 2,000 years the Dutch have fought the sea, slowly pumping out the waters, creating more and more productive land. Into this vast reclaimed basin has settled seventy per cent of Holland's population. Driven to anger by the long continued Dutch resistance, the Nazis have threatened time and again to let the sea waters pour in.

If there were any military motive to it—any reason whatever that it might be valuable as a defensive move—it could be justified by German militarists. But there is not the slightest defensive reason for such an act.

Yet 6,000 German demolition troops have let the waters go. The flood has poured over almost fifty per cent of the vast agricultural area and even Rotterdam and Amsterdam are in danger of being flooded. Starvation of the Dutch population is more than a menace. It has begun. Still, the Nazis continue to smash pumping stations and open more dikes.

Experts all over the world are agreed that the Dutch can not recover from this loss for many, many years—perhaps for a whole generation. And all for revenge. That is the only answer. Or Ovid's answer: "All things can corrupt perverted minds."

Political Dictation Is Being Protested

S. B. AYER, a member of the Grafton, W. Va., lodge of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, doesn't intend to bow to any political dictator or be dragged into the ranks of any candidate whom he does not approve.

"I am one of the many railway clerks," he stated in a letter to George M. Harrison, grand president of the Brotherhood, "who will not support your advocacy of the reelection of President Roosevelt. It is the opinion of some of us that you are, in your official position, assuming to speak for many who have not authorized anyone to speak for them. To my knowledge, no poll has been taken in our organization. We believe that the officials of our organization should keep it out of politics and should leave it to the members to make up their own minds and to vote without persuasion of the higher-ups."

"It is a practice of many New Dealers to assume authority beyond that given them."

"A newspaper publication states in substance that you have given assurance at the White House that the railway clerks would support the Democratic nominee."

"We think you speak out of turn."

"A good many other union men are expressing themselves to this same effect."

The New Gasoline Rationing Book

NUMEROUS INQUIRIES received within recent days point to some confusion in the minds of motorists regarding the proper procedure to follow in obtaining the new A-gasoline ration, effective November 9.

Here is how the new system works:

When one gets an application, obtainable at automobile club offices or gasoline stations, it should be filled out and returned to the ration board, together with the back cover of one's present ration sheet, which is headed "Certification of Bookholder." The front cover, which is headed "Basic Mileage Ration" or the A-12 coupons, should not be detached.

It is well to remember that the A-12 coupons in the present book will never be valid. The next coupons used after the expiration of the A-12s on November 8 will be the A-13s, first of the serially numbered coupons in the new book. Only three A-13 coupons will be in the book, but each will be worth four gallons and will be valid through December 21.

With the issuance of the new book in the East, the rationing program will be uniform throughout the country.

Not a single United States warship has been sunk in the Pacific through enemy action in the last nine months. The Japs may have to recall Tokyo. He used to sink them a dozen at a time in his broadcasts.

Whatever the actual situation may be in China, it can hardly be put down as favorable so long as Americans are forced to destroy their own airports.

Germans gave up butter for guns. Now they'll have to give up their guns, with no prospect of butter.

How Does the Mystery End?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

What did I do with that murder mystery I was reading? Why didn't I finish it?

I found it exciting at the beginning. Beautiful woman found dead on the stairs. Gold dagger in her heart. Who did it? Why was she killed? Three men loved her—each of the three hated her fiercely enough to kill her. Or was it a woman who drove that weapon into her breast? Clues all around, leading this way, that way. Did laughing Tom, sullen Jack, or studious Charles do that to mysterious Loraine? And will the little detective disentangle the scarlet threads? Finally and lead the reader persuasively, convincingly, to the murderer's solution?

Perhaps he did. . . I don't know. . . Something happened and I laid the book down and forgot to finish it. It's somewhere round the house but I hardly think I'll pick it up again. What I care is what happened between the pages of that book? How small a mystery, indeed, how meaningless to me! How dull in comparison with all the mysterious life I never can untangle, never resolve to my own feeble understanding!

A cat or a dog in the house are more mysterious. A child's ways, a child's growth in infancy, in adolescence, any human being is more tantalizing. . . A small seed in the dark earth. A growing tree, a voice through the radio. A distant star. The rise and fall of emotion. Hope and fear and faith. Suffering and its appeasement. Joy and laughter. Passage of time. A dream in the night. A premonition proved true. A vagrant thought.

These are the never-ending mystery story that makes the little puzzle between the covers of a book seem pale and full and trivial. . . The mystery I cannot solve is the one that holds my interest most. If I ever lose interest in THAT one, be sorry for me.

THE PIED PIPER IN REVERSE

Reasons for Stand by New York Times Don't Help Democrats, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—When a traditionally Democratic newspaper like the New York Times, which supports President Roosevelt's candidacy three times out of four, writes out cogently its case in favor of a fourth term the document becomes more interesting reading for the moment than campaign speeches by the nominees themselves. Plainly, if the Times' arguments are the strongest that can be mustered on that side and if these arguments alone were to be considered by the maximum number of voters as controlling, the result might be disappointing to the Democratic hopes.

This is because, fortunately or unfortunately, the American people are only incidentally and not primarily interested in one of the Times' principal arguments, namely, the effect which the outcome of this election may have "among the plain peoples of the world" or on "the great prestige and personal following" of the president abroad. It can hardly be considered logical that the voters would feel they must re-elect Mr. Roosevelt continuously just to have the same man in the White House all the time to deal with Marshal Stalin, who of course has assured himself of a life term.

Same Theme Threatened

The argument that Mr. Hull's trade treaties would be emasculated if the Republicans come into power, as the Times implies, is countered by the fact that the Democratic administration already threatens to sponsor a system of government-controlled foreign trade under quotas and restrictions worse for America than any tariff system the Republicans ever devised.

Relying solely on the Hull trade treaties and Mr. Roosevelt's "large first-hand knowledge of the problems that will arise in the making of the peace," the Times admits the many weaknesses of the Roosevelt administration in domestic affairs and says it favors a fourth term "only with deep reluctance and strong misgivings."

The Times relies rather heavily on the fact that "isolationist" and "internationalist" newspapers are to be found simultaneously supporting Governor Dewey. If this is reprehensible in a campaign in which foreign policy has been so commendably lifted out of partisan politics by Governor Dewey, then by the same line of reasoning many independent voters should withhold support from Mr. Roosevelt because he has managed to win the backing of the Daily Worker newspaper, organ of Communism in America; Earl Browder, and the Communists, as well as that of the conservative New York Times. To state the point is to demonstrate its weakness.

Character Predominant

What motley and variegated elements swing to one or the other of the two presidential candidates and what ambiguities a hastily-written party platform may contain are less important than the character and fundamental philosophy of each of the two presidential nominees.

Mr. Roosevelt furnished a realistic precedent perhaps by ignoring the 1932 platform in a crisis. Apparently platforms adopted before a candidate is named are no longer considered by public opinion to be binding upon the successful candidate.

The real quality of an administration is directly related to the administrative capacity and judgment of a chief executive and the Times concedes Mr. Roosevelt has for three terms been a blundering administrator.

When the Times says it finds Mr. Dewey's views on international affairs more satisfactory now than they were in 1940 but emphasizes Dewey's change of views as perhaps a sign of unsteadiness, it glosses over the many shifts and changes in both foreign and domestic policy that are charged to the present administration from 1933 to 1939. A forthright course during the years Hitler was rising in power might well have been substituted for waverings and fluctuations in handling military and diplomatic preparedness against both Germany and Japan.

Spending Habit an Argument

There is, to be sure, a strong argument for Mr. Roosevelt's election just the same in a quantitative sense, or strong in a vote-getting sense even though conservative influences like the New York Times may disagree with the point. It's the spending habits and policies of the present regime. The Roosevelt administration, which spent $23,000,000 more of the people's money than it took in between 1933 and 1939, promises to keep right on spending after the war is over and that means temporarily more dollars for everybody till the cash comes five or six years hence.

Dollar promises always catch votes and often influence elections. Some other administration, of course, will have to clean up the mess some day but the fourth-term enthusiasts can go safely on promises just the same. It's a strong campaign argument the Democrats have in 1944. They can, they say, guarantee prosperity. They can—at least till the next panic and depression disproves their claim and disillusion a gullible electorate.

Election Results May Be Delayed Into December

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Daring without judgment is required to predict the outcome of this election. Even the polls seem to be giving it up. The eminent Dr. Gallup who has never been at a loss for an answer, has lost this one.

His October 15 forecast, with the day of reckoning three weeks off, warned that he always expected four percent of error and then allocated nineteen states with almost half the electoral votes (252) into the "probable error" classification. In short, nearly half his states are doubtful.

Beyond this abnormal civilian doubt there are two other factors which make the election practically impossible to forecast. There are 8,000,000 men and women of voting eligibility away from home in the services and at least 4,000,000 of these are expected to vote. It would be against the law for anyone to poll these voters.

Splitting Evenly

From what I hear inside, they are being split fairly evenly between Roosevelt and Dewey, and not being cast in bulk for either side. In both army and navy (particularly navy) where career men rely for the last few months. These people are seeking permanent peace-time jobs, and may be going back home (largely Midwestern and South).

Will they register? Will they vote? Will those remaining in war centers overthrow the normal partisanship of those states (southerners, for instance, in Michigan)? How can anyone weigh these influences accurately?

If you average out all these enigmas and calculate reasonable expectations, you will give a slight edge to Mr. Roosevelt, but a better-chance-than-Willkie-had-to-Dewey. My election advice is this:

Wait this year until the votes are counted.

Record Is Cited Showing Friendship For Communists

By SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL

Mr. Roosevelt says, "I have never sought and do not welcome the support of any person or group committed to communism."

Actions speak louder than words. Browder is the head of the Communist party in this country. And Mrs. Browder is the wife of Mr. Browder.

Mr. Roosevelt pardoned Browder from a federal penitentiary in the interests "of national unity."

Mrs. Browder, an alien illegally in this country, has been saved from deportation by a recent reversal of two decisions ordering her out.

Harry Bridges, found by Attorney General Biddle himself to be an alien Communist, is still in this country after four years.

Browder and Bridges are supporting Mr. Roosevelt. In fact, Browder was the first politician to come out for a fourth term.

Support Declared

September 24, in a political rally at Madison Square Garden, Browder announced "American Communists . . . will in 1944 support Franklin Delano Roosevelt for president of the United States. They have no other ticket in the field this year."

The CIO-PAC is supporting Mr. Roosevelt and blackjacking American workmen for campaign funds. According to the Dies committee, at least eighty-two leaders of the PAC are either Communists or have been members of Trojan-horse groups which Mr. Biddle himself has said were used by the Communist party preliminary to the "seizure of power by revolution."

Mr. Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt for years done all in their power to discredit the Dies committee out of existence because it has exposed the Communist tie-ups of many of Mr. Roosevelt's appointees and political supporters.

Big Money Spent

The PAC has spent thousands of dollars to defeat two members of the Dies committee.

Mr. Roosevelt has given his blessing to the PAC.

Jim Farley, a loyal American, knows these gentry on the inside, and he describes them as "alien-minded."

The American Federation of Labor, also in a position to know, speaks of Sidney Hillman and his "coterie of Communists."

Pravda, the Communist organ in Russia, has described Hillman as "Comrade" Hillman.

Hillman was an associate of Lenin and Trotsky in Russia, and has written a book favorable to the Bolshevik dictatorship.

Protector of Anarchist

Hillman's wife, Bessie Abramovitch, was a protegee of the anarchist Emma Goldman. Hillman gave $3,000 to support the Communist newspaper Freiheit. Hillman is a director of the red "Garland Fund" which has helped maintain the Daily Worker, official Communist organ, the New Masses, and other Communist papers.

Hillman has been repeatedly appointed by Mr. Roosevelt to federal jobs including OPM, predecessor of the War Production Board.

Thousands of patriotic CIO members are refusing to support the PAC because of Communist penetration. They, too, are in a position to know.

In November 1939 when Stalin attacked Finland, Mr. Roosevelt denounced him as "a dictator as absolute as the world has ever seen."

Stalin is now "Marshal" and Russia is a great and noble "democracy."

Confiscation Favored
The Communist party favors the confiscation of all incomes in the United States over $25,000 which would hobble men like Henry Ford trying to build a business. Mr. Roosevelt issued an executive order to that effect.

The Communist party demands the abolition of the supreme court, or at least its power to hold laws unconstitutional. Mr. Roosevelt undertook to pack the supreme court because it held laws unconstitutional.

Alexander Barmine, a former Russian Communist, holding a government job in New York as a translator, wrote a startling article denouncing American Communism, which appears in the October "Reader's Digest." (Don't fail to read it. He says military intelligence files on Communists have been suppressed.) A few days after publication Barmine was fired by the Roosevelt administration.

More Frills Will Be Allowed in Men's Clothing and Houses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (P) — More frills in wartime housing and in men's clothing will be permitted under relaxations of War Production Board restrictions announced today. The net result of the changes in building standards, WPB and the National Housing Agency said in a joint announcement, "will be to permit the builder a greater freedom in design and the use of materials in housing construction."

 The greater freedom of design is extended to men's togs by WPB. Belted coats, patch pockets, pleated trousers—but not two-pant suits or a vest under double-breasted coats—will be permitted to reappear by late spring or early summer. The building modifications apply only to construction for essential war workers in congested areas, urgently-needed housing for returning veterans and individual hardship cases. General provisions requiring the conservation of lumber and other materials were retained. Re- moved were: restrictions on total floor area permitted in a dwelling unit; the limitation on the number of electrical outlets; restrictions on the size of hot water storage tanks; the requirement that bath- rooms and kitchens be back-to-back.

 Public card rooms in San Diego now are licensed and regulated and players limited to draw poker and contract or auction bridge under a new city ordinance.

Eta Upsilon Gamma Group Elects Officers for Year

Miss Lillian Boughton Is Chosen President of Alumnae Chapter

The Alumnae Chapter of Eta Upsilon Gamma sorority elected Miss Lillian Boughton president for the coming year, Monday evening when Mrs. Ralph MacBeth Luman entertained the group at the home of Mrs. Harry Luman, Mt. View drive. Other officers are: Mrs. Ralph Luman, vice president; Mrs. Paul Arbogast, recording secretary; Mrs. John Wieland, corresponding secretary; Mrs. George Perdue, treasurer.

New committees also selected include the program committee, headed by Mrs. Ralph Luman, who will name her assistants later; social Mrs. J. William Loar, Mrs. Whiting Linaburg and Miss Boughton; publicity, Mrs. Paul Lee Goldsworthy; scrapbook, Miss Dorothy Kaplan; philanthropic, Mrs. William Lutzer; Mrs. Wieland; ways and means, Miss Dorothy Hamill and Mrs. Leonard Murphy.

Members decided to change the meeting from the third to the first Monday evening of the month and to celebrate the fourth anniversary with a dinner party some time next month instead of holding the November meeting. Plans were also made for a membership drive and anyone who is an alumnae of Eta Upsilon Gamma and desires to join is asked to contact Mrs. John Wieland, 511 Baltimore avenue. Two new members, Miss Dorothy Hamill and Mrs. Paul Arbogast, were welcomed into the group by Mrs. Charles Maxwell, president. The program consisted of each member reading her favorite piece of poetry. The list included both modern and old poems and Miss Catherine Catlett and Mrs. Charles Arrinbolt reviewed the favorite poems of their childhood. After each member told why she had chosen her piece a discussion of it followed. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Spirit of Chinese Women Described By Missionary

The Chinese women are unquarable and perfectly capable of carrying on the spread of christianity in China while the missionaries are interned or repatriated. Mrs. Theodore Culver Glyesteen, repatriated missionary, told members of the Western Maryland Branch of the Baltimore Presbytery at the luncheon-meeting in the lecture hall of the First Presbyterian church, this city.

Mrs. Glyesteen explained that the number of missionaries in China is far short of what is needed and the lay-members of the church carry on the work of christianity, especially at the time of the Chinese New Year, when visits are particularly welcome. She also said she believes the Chinese christians will remain christians for, one Chinese of every 100 is a christian of the kind who understand the spirit of christianity; and because the important people of China one out of three was educated in christian schools.

Describes Mission Compound

Giving a word picture of the mission compound, the speaker described the two marble places built into the brick wall of the church bearing the names of christian martyrs of 1900; the garden around the church which is the meeting place of the people after the services; the chapel building, where the women hold their meetings and Sunday school classes are held; the junior department she explained meets in the church proper.

Mrs. Glyesteen also discussed the hospital conducted by the mission which also co-operates in examination and treatment of the school children; and at length described the Self Help department of the mission, where originally they were taught to weave rugs, and later taught printing, and more recently conducted a dairy with a herd of Swiss goats, the Rev. William H. Glyesteen bought to teach the Chinese a greater use of milk in the children's diet. Many of the boys pay their way through the school by working in the dairy.

A similar project the School of Gentleness is conducted for the girls who are taught to card, spin and weave wool. The speaker also described the "Thanksgiving service" when the fact that the "daily bread" is given by God is stressed and the fruits of the earth are brought on a special designated Sunday and later distributed to the poor.

The Japanese completely control the economic production and agriculture of China the speaker declared; as well as having political control, arrests without warrants hang over every one's head; and social control in the education system and radio propaganda.

Plight of China Dreadful

The plight of China today after eight years of war is dreadful, she said; inflation makes living a problem; food is scarce to the point of famine; and a tide of secularism is sweeping the country with many of the younger generation not so interested in the church.

Life in the internment camp for 1,800 persons was described by Mrs. Glyesteen as beginning early in the morning with a breakfast of bread porridge, as bread was plentiful and grains unheard of; a soup, made with the meat which had been placed in a bag, was served for lunch and the meat served with vegetables for dinner. A few newspapers and an occasional letter is received at the camp; and one letter, written on one sheet of paper with a typewriter and double spaced is permitted to be sent from camp a month. Both men and women volunteered for work at the camp, she said and Fellowships and Women's Guilds have been organized.

In speaking of being given only one egg a month, in a country where eggs are plentiful the missionary spoke of buying eggs from the Chinese in a black market, conditions however improved and eggs could be bought at the canteen she said after a Trapist father served ten days in solitary confinement for buying eggs for the children interned.

Mrs. Harold W. Smith presided at the meeting and announced that the spring meeting will be held in the Moffatt Memorial mission at Barreville, sometime in April. Before introducing the speaker, she appealed for donations for China relief, stressing how much more fortunate the women here are than in China.

Large Crowd Attends

Mrs. William A. Eisenberger announced the World Community day, sponsored by the Cumberland Council of Churchwomen will meet at 2 o'clock November 3 in Kingsley Methodist church, and would discuss, "The Price of Enduring Peace."

Mrs. Robert LeRoy Critchfield welcomed the group, which the roll call showed was the largest since the branch was organized six years ago. The Rev. Walter R. Cremons, general presbyter of the Presbytery spoke at the morning session on "The Work of the Presbytery," and outlined its problems and plans. Mrs. R. F. Potter conducted the devotionals and the Rev. W. A. Eisenberger the benediction.

Lunch was served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur Haller and Mrs. Edward Chandler. Mrs. Porter D. Collins and Mrs. A. H. Amick, Jr. were in charge of the fall decorations.

Barton church was represented by eight members; Barreville, by three; Lonaconing, by thirteen; Southminster, by eight; First, by seventy-eight and fifteen guests attended.

Survey Shows Campaign Has Little Effect in Shifting Labor Vote

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 17.—The political campaign which began in earnest in September has brought virtually no shifts in the political sentiment of voters who are members of the C.I.O. and A.F. of L.

Except for a one per cent increase in Roosevelt support among the A.F. of L. membership, Dewey-Roosevelt sentiment remains the same today among union members as it was in September.

At that time it was pointed out that Roosevelt had lost more votes per hundred among organized labor than he had among the voters of the nation considered as a whole.

In 1940, seventy-nine per cent of the C.I.O. members said they had voted for Roosevelt. The figure today is seventy-two per cent. In the case of the A.F. of L., seventy-one per cent said they had voted for Roosevelt in 1940, as compared to sixty-four per cent who say they would vote for him today.

These facts are shown in replies

by union members to the question:

"If the presidential election were being held today, how would you vote—for Roosevelt or for Dewey?"

Sentiment toward P. D. R. today is compared in the following table with the way union members said they voted in 1940:

C.I.O. MEMBERS
1940	TODAY
For Roosevelt	79% 72%
A.F.L. MEMBERS
For Roosevelt	71% 64%

The estimated rise in C.I.O. membership of about two million since 1940 plus the registration drive of the C.I.O. Political Action Committee may result in a greater number of C.I.O. members going to the polls in November. This could offset

F. Raley Receives Letter Concerning His Son's Death

Soldier's Last Action Described by His Company Commander

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Oct. 17 — Frank Raley, Hoffman, recently received a letter from Capt. William F. Lee, commanding officer of the Three-hundred and Seventh Infantry, concerning the death of Raley's son, Pfc. John E. Raley, who was killed on the island of Guam in the Pacific.

Capt. Lee's letter informed Mr. Raley that his son died a noble death while manning his gun in face of heavy enemy fire.

"The action," he wrote, "took place at 12 noon, August 2, at Barriaga, Iles de Guam, a small island. Your son was on line during a heavy fire fight with the enemy. Once a Jap tank ran by your son not missing him more than six inches, but he did not move. He remained where he was and continued to fire. A short while later, while he was still firing, he was hit by an enemy shell. It was at that time that he was killed by a Jap machine gun."

"There is little more that can be said, the loss of such men as your son is the price we have to pay so that once again we can return to a normal life of happiness. Your son was given a Christian burial in the soldiers' cemetery and I can assure you that the grave is well marked and taken care of. The officers and men of his company joined in the services and also in extending you our sincere sympathy."

Pfc. Raley, a former Celenese employee, was a native of Frostburg and attended Hill street school and the Congregational church. Following the report of his death, a memorial service, attended by a delegation from the American Legion, was held at the Congregational church in his honor. The Rev. J. F. Zimmerman conducted the service Sunday evening, September 17.

Formosa Raided Again by B-29s With No Losses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (P) — Superfortresses today carried out their third raid in four days against military targets on the island of Formosa without the loss of a single plane, the Twentieth air force reported late today.

The latest strike against the important Eimansho airfield and supply depot, ten miles southeast of Tainan, was the second in a row from which all the big bombers returned safely. In the series of operations begun against Formosa Saturday only one plane was listed as lost and this was "not due to enemy action," it was announced officially.

Today's communiqué said that in the series of missions, some fighter resistance was encountered but none of our planes were lost. It was explained later that the phrase "none of our planes were lost" meant that none were destroyed through enemy action, and not that the entire series of raids was carried out without loss. There was no explanation as to the fate of the plane missing from the first raid.

The communiqué did not disclose the number of planes sent against Eimansho, but the Saturday assault on the big aircraft repair and supply depot of Okayama was carried out by what was described as the heaviest force of B-29s yet employed in one mission. Tokyo reported the number as over 100.

Following that raid it was announced that four planes were unreported but two of these later returned to bases in China and a third crash landed in friendly territory.

Describing the result of yesterday's Okayama raid as "excellent," the communiqué said that all but two of the thirty-four major buildings there "have now been destroyed," and most of the subsidiary buildings also have been hit.

Okayama was termed the most important Japanese air installation south of Japan proper.

Philippines Hit

can task force that has been sending heavy waves of planes against Formosa. But Nimitz declared "on discovering our fighting strength unimpaired, they (Japanese warships) avoided action and have withdrawn toward their bases."

Nimitz reported only two American surface ships damaged against Japanese claims of up to fifty-two sunk or damaged.

One look at the power packed by the mighty force of warships that is Adm. William F. Halsey's Third fleet convinced the enemy no change was prudent in its policy of avoiding a showdown fight at sea.

For days the Tokyo radio had blared to the world that "brilliant war results" had been achieved by Nipponese naval and air forces that in the end Halsey's fleet "will have vanished from the seas."

Jap Broadcasts Spiked

Japanese newspapers, swallowing the propaganda smoothly, heralded the event to the homeland under such headlines as "desperately fleeing enemy warships completely destroyed."

Spiking enemy broadcasts that forty to fifty-two American warships had been sunk or damaged, Nimitz said:

"There has been no damage of consequence to our battleships or carriers. However, two medium sized ships were hit by aircraft torpedoes and are retiring from the area. Fortunately, the personnel casualties in these two ships were small."

This report covered the fighting, now in its second week, between American carrier planes and shore-based enemy aircraft over the Ryukyu Islands, Formosa and Luzon in the Philippines.

War correspondents at headquarters interpreted "medium sized ships" as referring to cruisers or destroyers.

The carrier task forces commanded by Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, Nimitz announced, destroyed 106 enemy planes October 13, 14 and 15 in repelling air attacks against the task groups off Formosa. Five United States planes were lost.

This raised Japanese aircraft losses in the Ryukyu-Formosa-Luzon actions to an estimated 828 to 843, with thirty-seven more enemy planes probably destroyed.

First Day Nazis

bank of the Estuary, and that the Nazis had taken new positions on a line running from Schoondijk westward to Sluis, about four miles inland.

The German radio said everything pointed to a mighty pre-winter offensive by the Allies somewhere in Germany or Holland. The Berlin Transocean news agency decried 1,500 British tanks were poised in the Nijmegen-Arnhem bridgehead, waiting only for Antwerp to be opened up before striking for the Rhine.

Hal Boyle of the Associated Press wrote from First army headquarters that the Germans were particularly nervous in the Geilenkirchen area ten miles north of Aachen and that they spent ammunition prodigally in laying down the heaviest barrage of the Siegfried line battle since American positions in that sector Monday night.

The situation remained unchanged on the American Third army front, where a steady rain had filled foxholes to the brim and practically stalled traffic. West of Metz the Nazis tipped up loudspeakers and called upon Yank troops to surrender within three hours or be annihilated, but at the end of the period nothing happened.

The French First army struggling through almost impossible terrain on the slopes of the Vosges mountains near the southern end of the 460-mile front made slight gains while repulsing repeated German counterattacks. Within a month snow will halt major fighting in the Vosges. American troops of Japanese descent, who fought with distinction in Italy, were disclosed to have joined the American Seventh army in the vicinity of the Belfort Gap.

lature, administrator, prosecutor, judge, jury and sheriff all rolled up in one.

Faith in the Future
Bricker declared the Republican party proposed to end "the march back toward absolutism and economic slavery."

And, he concluded, "we have faith in the future of America."

X x x That faith is liberalism. It is the only true liberalism the world will ever know."

The Ohio government in a speech in the morning at Santa Ana said that the East should not be permitted to "reconvert" to peacetime production before the West.

Taking cognizance of suggestions, he said, that eastern plants could return to peacetime production after the defeat of Germany while "you (the West) continue to produce the tools of war to defeat Japan," Bricker remarked:

"I say to you that the winning of the war over Japan is the responsibility of all our country. Any other policy would delay the day of final victory, and it was also impair the economic well being of this entire nation."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many suffer from nagging backache, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Rotarians Hear
British Officer

War experiences, both exciting and amusing, of a British army officer featured the weekly luncheon session of Rotarians yesterday at the Central YMCA.

The speaker was Capt. Bryan V. Rhodes, whose nationality was obvious from his picturesque English accent, and who is now attached to the British military staff in Washington.

From 1935 until he was sent to this country several months ago, Capt. Bryan was with the Green Hearts battalion of the One Hundred and Fiftieth brigade of the British infantry. It was one of the first units to go ashore on the Normandy beachhead. It saw service in France preceding and during the Nazi invasion, in the Middle East, in North Africa, where Capt. Rhodes was wounded, and in the operations before Dunkirk. He was alternately a prisoner of the Germans and the Italians. Capt.

Rhodes's unit was the last to leave Dunkirk.

Announcement was made that the board of governors had decided in favor of holding an International Institute of Understanding under Rotary sponsorship in the city. The International Service committee, under the leadership of Edmund S. Burke, will have charge of the arrangements. Details will be announced later.

Guests included Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Havre de Grace; Robert E. Laramy, Bethlehem, Pa.; R. E. Laramy, Jr., Cumberland, V. T. Wilmoth, Pittsburgh; W. O. Wells, Keyser; Watson E. Holley, Frostburg; Andrew Cohill, Hagerstown, and Attorney General William C. Walsh, Cumberland.

Don't Let Cold Weather Catch You Unprepared

It could happen any cold morning from now on. Don't be caught with your battery down.

It isn't funny to step on the starter and get no answer. Bad language won't help either.

And after you've sent for help, and get your battery on a charger, you may get more bad news. Maybe it won't come back.

The best way is to stop in and see us first. Let us test your battery, give it a booster charge if needed. This ounce of prevention may save your time, money, and trouble.

Don't run the risk of being caught with your battery down. And don't take a chance on smooth tires either. Right now we can recap 'em quick, put them back in shape for good, safe service.

Later, when everybody starts coming at once, it may take longer. Maybe your tire won't be good then either. Better drop in for inspection — NOW.

Figures Prove Randolph Field Eleven Is Good

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 17 (P)—Want to know why Randolph field is ranked third in the nation's football and, in the eyes of southwest critics, should be No. 1?

Well, the Ramblers have rolled over three top Southwest Conference teams—Rice, Texas and Southern Methodist—for an average of more than forty-seven points per game, amassing 1,305 yards for a net gain of 435 per contest, which is five and one-half better than Georgia university's record-markers of 1942.

But that's only half the story. Those three have been allowed just 21.3 yards rushing per game, four yards under the all-time collegiate mark set by Santa Clara in 1937. Rice got forty-six yards, Texas seventeen, S. M. U. one.

Against passes, Randolph hasn't been so effective, allowing 283 yards, but the Ramblers have intercepted ten of seventy-one passes and returned them 236 yards, so the opposition has only a net of forty-seven yards overhead.

Nine of the twenty-one Randolph touchdowns have come on air raids that averaged twenty yards per pass and four others were on runs ranging from forty-eight yards by Bill Dudley against Texas to eighty-two by Jake Leicht against S. M. U.

Dudley is the offensive big gun and what a record the Virginia All-America has set, averaging 283 yards, twelve passes for 236 yards (five for touchdowns), forty-one yards average on his punts, caught three passes, scored three touchdowns and kicked three extra points. Pete Layden, Texas-ex, is runnerup in offense with 136 on the ground and 102 passing.

Baltimore Gets Cage Loop Berth

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17—(P)—An announcement that Baltimore had been awarded a franchise in the American Basketball League with the city quietly opening its circuit campaign by mid-November was made today by Stanley Behrend, president of the recently-organized local club.

Behrend said that the tentative starting date was Nov. 16 and the team would play one home and one road game each week during the winter.

Forum and Party Talks Are Listed On Radio Chains

Dewey and a Five-Minute Democratic Speaker Will Be Heard

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
New York, Oct. 17. (AP)—Political broadcasting, Wednesday, will include a Democratic National Committee five-minute speaker on NBC at 8:55 p. m.

Closing broadcasting from the New York Tribune's thirteenth annual forum with the theme, "Builders of the World Ahead," is on the agenda for Wednesday.

It will consist of an hour on the Blue network beginning at 9:30, and among the announced speakers is Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for the presidency.

Broadway Hit Version
Elliot Nugent, actor, playwright and director, is to use his acting talents for an 11:30 broadcast on NBC, the weekly Arthur Presents drama. This time the production is to be a radio version in an hour of "The Male Animal," Broadway hit of 1939.

Announcement comes that George O. Wells, CBS explaining that the "O" stands for Orson, will be Frank Sinatra's guest on that network at 9.

A program, called Beautiful Music and originating from Springfield, Mass., is filling the 3:30 half-hour on the Blue these afternoons. Also at 4:15 Blue has another musical feature which it lists as "Sincerely Yours."

At 10 on MBS Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, will have the second of his new weekly commentary series.

Some Early Offerings

NBC—12 noon Words and Music; 2:45 p. m. Hymns of All Churches; CBS—1:45 The Goldbergs; 4 WACs on Parade; 5 Singing Along Clubbers.

BLUB—11 a. m. Breakfast at Saratoga; 12:30 p. m. Farm and Home program; 2:30 p. m. Ladies Be Seated; 3:15 Hollywood Star Time.

State's Farmers Plan Postwar Rehabilitation

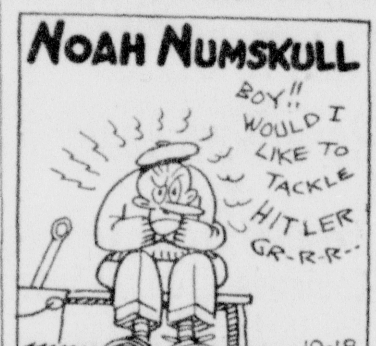

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 17. (AP)—A state farm plan and equipment rehabilitation sub-committee predicted recently that Maryland farmers may be expected to spend during the first few postwar years about $1,000 per farm.

In a preliminary report, the committee said that at the close of the war Maryland farm houses and buildings were expected to be in "poor condition." Many of the buildings will need repairs, while others will be obsolete or inadequate, the report said.

A two-point plan proposed by the committee included:
1. An educational program, designed to bring best and construction standards in line with present knowledge. The University of Maryland Extension Service and other agencies were called upon to handle this phase.

2. A research program, designed to extend present knowledge in the fields of farm building design, construction economics, and the adaptation of new building materials. The University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station was preferred for this assignment.

Today's Needlework

by Laura Wheeler

Don't be without a crocheted corde bag—it's so smart and is not expensive when you make it yourself.

Either of these two are lovely.

The drawing bag is done in one piece; two-inch quickly-memorized medallions form the purse. Pattern 523 has directions for bags; stitches.

This pattern, together with a needlework pattern for personal or household decoration, fifteen cents.

Officer in WAC, Recruiter Will Speak at Rally

Capt. Engelmann and Sgt. Beech Will Address Lions at Noon

Capt. Corlan Dokken Engelmann, a WAC officer in the officer procurement division, Third Service Command Headquarters, and Staff Sgt. Charles W. Beech, a recruiter attached to the public relations office there, arrived from Baltimore yesterday afternoon to attend the WAC rally and fashion show at the Maryland State Hotel.

Capt. Engelmann, a native of Thief River Falls, Minn., enlisted in the WAC September 14, 1942, and attended officers' candidate school at Fort Des Moines, Ia. After being commissioned a second lieutenant November 7, 1942, she remained at Fort Des Moines until the following January, serving as executive officer of the Twenty-fourth WAC Receiving company.

Capt. Engelmann acted as an instructor in military correspondence at Nacogdoches, Tex., until March 1943, when she became a student officer in the adjutant general school at Fort Washington, Md. On April 29, 1943, she was promoted to first lieutenant and last January she was assigned to Third Service Command Headquarters as assistant director of the operations division. She was promoted to her present rank last April 22, and two weeks ago she was assigned to the officer procurement station.

Over Nine Years in Service

Sgt. Beech, a veteran of nine and a half years of overseas service, began military service in 1934, when he served in the navy as a seaman first class. He was sent to Yucatan, Mex., during an uprising there in 1934, and then spent two years in the Pacific at Pearl Harbor.

In 1936 he applied for a discharge from the navy and entered the army, receiving training at a gunnery school in Las Vegas, Nev., and radar and radio instruction at March field, Calif. A member of the Ninety-third Bombardment group, Sgt. Beech was on his way to this country to ferry planes back to Manila when the Philippines fell to the Japanese in the summer of 1942. The other members of the bombardment group were killed or captured.

Sgt. Beech spent a total of thirty-two months in the Aleutian Islands, during which time he participated in seventy-six missions over Japanese-held territory as a B-24 Liberator bomber. He took part in reconnaissance missions over the Japanese mainland, during which photographs were taken and maps made which were used by Gen. James Doolittle in the famous raid over Tokyo by carrier-based American planes in the spring of 1942.

Helped Raid Japan
In August, September and November, 1943, Sgt. Beech took part in three raids over the Japanese Mainland, and was seriously wounded during the November raid. After being hospitalized at Fairbanks, Alaska, he returned to this country December 21, 1943, and spent several months in California military hospitals.

Sgt. Beech, a native of Detroit, Mich., now lives in Towson, Md. He has been doing recruiting and public relations work at Third Service Command Headquarters for the past four months. He holds the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters, the Purple Heart decoration, a pre-Pearl Harbor service ribbon, the Veterans of Foreign Wars ribbon, the Soldiers' medal, campaign ribbons for service in the Asiatic-Pacific theater, the Mexican interior and the American theater of operations, and the Army Good Conduct ribbon.

Both Capt. Engelmann and Sgt. Beech will be guest speakers at a luncheon meeting of the Lions club at Central YMCA at noon today. Sgt. Beech will speak at the WAC rally this evening.

Capt. Engelmann will remain here until Thursday to interview young women who are interested in becoming medical technicians in the WAC, and Sgt. Beech will return to Baltimore, Thursday morning.

Damaged Tank Car Holds Poison Liquid

Western Maryland Will Move Car Containing Solvent Today

A damaged railroad tank car filled with 33,000 gallons of diphenyl chloroethane, a highly poisonous solvent used as an anti-knock in gasoline, will be moved today from the Western Maryland railway yards west of Baltimore street.

Joseph M. Miller, superintendent of the Elkins division of the railway company, said last night. The car was one of six derailed Monday morning in the Western Maryland yards and the other five cars already have been moved, but Miller said additional help is needed to move the tank car and will arrive here today.

Miller pointed out that the solvent is very expensive and difficult to handle, and state police said fumes from the poisonous solvent would pollute one and one-half square miles.

The solvent was carried in a jack-dated tank car, according to Miller, who added that the outer jacket was punctured in the derailment and that the inner covering was scarred. He said, however, that there is no danger of the fumes escaping from the car, but stated that a guard has been placed around the car as a precautionary measure.

Lutherans Will Meet in Toledo

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—(P)—After selecting Toledo, Ohio, as their 1946 meeting place, most delegates to the fourteenth biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America left for home tonight.

The church had invitations from Philadelphia to hold the 1948 session there in honor of the two hundredth anniversary of founding of the Pennsylvania Ministerium and from Seattle and San Francisco for the 1950 gathering.

Although the convention took no action, delegates in final sessions heard proposals for inauguration of a religious "lend-lease" program for the rehabilitation of the farm people in devastated areas.

Presented by the Rev. Ross H. Stover, pastor of Messiah church, Philadelphia, and Elwood H. Bowman, New York, church extension director for the Board of American Missions, the plan calls for United States church people to purchase and raise blooded cattle which would be sent abroad at the war's end.

The proponents suggested the project for Luther league sponsorship, with city members purchasing the animals and rural members raising them.

Start toward a theological seminary for post graduate work was assured when the delegates, on motion of the Rev. Paul Krauss, Fort Wayne, Ind., supported by the New York Synod, instructed the education board to work out plans for such an institution within a year, after which the executive board was ordered to have detailed plans ready for the Toledo meeting.
